

"I found that I was fitted for nothing so well as for a study of truth; as having a mind nimble and versatile enough to catch the resemblances of things (which is the chief point), and at the same time steady enough to fix and distinguish their subtler differences; as being gifted by nature with desire to seek, patience to doubt, fondness to meditate, slowness to assert, readiness to consider, carefulness to dispose and set in order; and as being a man that neither affects what is new nor admits what is old, and that hates every kind of imposture. So I thought my nature had a kind of familiarity and relation with truth." - Francis Bacon

BUSINESS TRENDS

CONTENTS

Vol. 23, No. 1, Spring 1979

How CEOs See The Future	16
What changes are in store for America? How will our quality of life fare? Will free enterprise be crunched? Will government dominate? Will individualism survive?....Chief Executives reply with their own "fearless forecasts."
Energy	20
Before the oil embargo of 1973, we aimed toward energy independence. After that crunch we worried so much about making good this end that our oil imports increased from 30% to 50%. So much for good intentions.
Technology/R & D	22
U.S. science is declining qualitatively while big business stints on basic research, two interconnected trends which must be reversed to strengthen America's competitive position worldwide.
Computer World	24
The distinction between entire systems and subsystems is blurring, chips are denser, memories keener and microprocessors are busting out all over.
Finance/Investment	26
Foreigners cotton to U.S. notion of fending off the tax bite while their companies try U.S. turf and find it salubrious.
SOUTHERN NEVADA/LAS VEGAS	27
A region plunked on the upper reaches of the sunbelt that's home not only to Las Vegas, its star-studded entertainment capital, but to environs ripe for development. Its residents enjoy the nation's highest per capita income when adjusted to cost of living and they plan to keep it that way by engendering an industrial mix that will carry the present economic boom beyond the year 2,000.
Labor	67
Big Labor is not cutting it in growth industries; professionals want their due; workers are down on noise.
How Corporations Plan	68
Facing a new era of uncertainties, old planning concepts will go by the board. Long-range dreamers will be pushed out by doers on the firing line....and plans will take the whole world into account.
Transportation/Travel	71
Lodging industry euphoric over prospective spree of pleasure traveling...but what if the pumps run dry?
Business & Society	72
Electronic communications spur decentralization, corporations spurn women at the top and futurists latch on to changing attitudes.
Health Care Industry	80
With the fear of a taxpayer revolt in mind, Congress may balk at the costs of compulsory health insurance.
500 Most Profitable Medium-Size U.S. Corporations	79
One-Line-Abstracts Computerized For Keyword Indexing	81
Trade-Offs	14
